Community Financial Assistance Donations are now open

The first round of Community Financial Assistance Donations for 2022/23 are now open, so now is the time for community groups to plan for upcoming projects that may benefit from a donation.

“Each year Council offers two rounds of Community Financial Assistance Donations to support local groups and organisations,” said Warrumbungle Shire Council Mayor, Councillor Ambrose Doolan. “Council encourages community groups to apply for up to $500 to put towards a project that promotes or supports people living in our region.”

“Over the last seven years Council has donated around $130,000 to almost 150 different community groups and organisations through the Community Financial Assistance Donations. Projects are diverse, and with a wide range of community groups among the recipients funding has gone towards all kinds of sports, the arts, school and pre-school programs, local shows, environmental projects, community events, local history, and groups supporting the community with services such as rescue, disabilities and mental health,” said Cr Doolan.

“It is great to see so many different groups and programs benefit from these community grants, and I’d strongly encourage any community group to put an application in for their various projects,” concluded Cr Doolan.

Application forms, along with the guidelines for donations, are now available on Council’s website under the Have Your Say Tab. Hard copy application forms will also be available at Council Administration Offices in Coolah and Coonabarabran.

Applications close at 4:30pm, Friday 29 July 2022 and will be considered at the August 2022 Council Meeting.
