Warrumbungle Community Care needs your help

Interested in giving back to the community, making a difference and meeting new people? Sign up now to volunteer with Warrumbungle Community Care.

“Warrumbungle Community Care provides incredible services such as social support, community transport and meals to our community members in need and they are dependent on volunteers to assist,” said Warrumbungle Shire Council Mayor Councillor Ambrose Doolan. “It is vital for all of us to work together and take a holistic approach to support our communities, and support our invaluable volunteers.”

“Volunteer drivers for Community Care’s Community Transport program are needed in all towns. Being a region made up of many rural communities, it is important for our community members to access essential medical appointments and social services that might otherwise be out of reach without assistance,” said Cr Doolan.

All volunteers will undergo a Criminal check, medical and Drivers Licence check which Community Care staff are happy to assist with, and will explain the whole process to new volunteers. Volunteering hours are flexible.

“Volunteers gain confidence and experiences, have fun and most of all have satisfaction from doing something that will make a difference to someone’s life,” said Cr Doolan.

“If you know of someone who would like to assist and volunteer some time to giving back to our wonderful communities please get in touch with the Warrumbungle Community Care Team,” concluded Cr Doolan.
